

Dr. Abhishek Bhatnagar

He holds a Ph.D and is presently working as Senior Programme Officer with WWF, India. He is in-charge of the Sustainable Sugar Initiative in the Godavari Basin of Maharashtra and also involved in Sustainable Farm Management Practices.

Summary of presentation

He made a brief presentation on the initiatives being undertaken by his organization with special reference to the sugar sector. The emphasis of the initiative is on the adoption of best management practices by the farmers with respect to utilization of water, as sugarcane is a water intensive crop. The initiative was undertaken in Godavari basin of Maharashtra.